

Flying high above Macedonia's highest town

The town of Krusevo is the highest in Macedonia sitting at 1,350m (4,430ft).

Few people outside of Macedonia have heard of it but for paragliders it is a big attraction, drawing people from across the world.

The BBC Travel Show's Amanda Ruggeri visits Krusevo to find out more.

19 October 2017

🕒 3 minutes

This clip is from

The Travel Show

Orkney Islands

Featured in...

Europe

The Travel Show

From Venice's only female gondoliera to tracking Estonia's brown bears

More clips from The Travel Show

Thailand's rubbish-clearing 'beachbot'

22/06/2018 GMT

DURATION: 01:52

Hearable technology reviewed

Amsterdam

DURATION: 02:33

Could we see robot boats in Amsterdam?

Amsterdam

DURATION: 01:24

See all clips from The Travel Show \(447\)

Exploited wild animals find refuge

Wildlife in Thailand

DURATION: 03:58

